“ I always remember your dads smile when we came over for the holidays. And He is now smiling up in heaven were there is peace.

“ Sue & Tommy - I had the pleasure of knowing both parents. I can say with all sincerity that they were two of the most wonderful people that I have ever had the privilege to know.

“ Although you were my ex father in law, no ex son in law could have asked for better.
You taught me how to cook a steak. You taught me how to transplant a tree, and you taught me how to build a fence, just to name a few things I learned from you.
You gave me forgiveness and showed me kindness even when you didn't have to.
These are virtues I know you've given throughout your life here on earth, and I know God has a special place for you in Heaven.
If and when I should be so lucky to get to the same place, I hope we can sit down and cook a steak and have a beer together.
I'll miss you forever.
