“ To Doris and family:

We send our condolences to you and George's family. The only time I met George was at your wedding to Edwin. It was a shock to read about his death in the Courant.

“ To my dear friend George. I will miss you, especially on those days I need some sunshine. You always left me with a smile whether we spoke on the phone or you stopped by the office. You are at peace now & one day we will meet again, until then I have many cherished memories to keep you alive with me.

XOXOXO,

Lynn

“ To my cousin and friend, I will miss you more than you could possibly imagine.

My favorite memory of George is when he was going over to his Aunt's house for dinner, a much loved event. They were having stew. I told him that italian bread would go great with that stew. We'll a little while later George comes walking into my office and throws a loaf of San Remo Italian bread on my desk. He sat for awhile and chatted. When he got up to leave I said "don't forget the bread" He said "No, that one is for you. I figured since I had to come all this way to get the bread, I might as well get one for you and me. Especially since you guilted me into it." All said with that devilish look in his eye.

I will miss you with all my heart.

Love you,
