“ My thoughts and prayers are with Joe's family. Joe served on the CCARC Foundation Board of Directors and was so generous with his time and knowledge. On a personal note I truly loved our conversations over the past 24 years that we had about local and State politics. He served in the Legislature with my father Joe Ruwet and like my Dad, Joe had believed in public service and his community and lived each day to do good for others. I am so grateful to have had those conversations with Joe. He will surely be missed but remembered fondly by many of us.

“ I was so sad to hear of Joe's passing. I worked for a short time as an assistant to Joe when he was running the Second Injury Fund at the State Treasurer's Office. I remember Joe as very bright and hard-working, but more importantly he was incredibly kind. He was patient and caring to those around him. He noticed I had talents beyond memo-taking and referred me to the executive team, propelling me on an eight year career as part of the executive team. His unselfishness, kindness and great sense of humor will be remembered by all who knew him.

We did and Joe was one of the great minds putting our plan together . May you Rest In Peace my friend. Brendan.*

“ Joe, I will miss you much you very much, our lunch together a couple of years back was just what I needed, I know I wasn't much of a talker but you spoke and I listened when there was trouble in the department, if I had to do it over again I would have more lunches with you and your family.

Love and miss your Joe rest

His love for the City of New Britain can be shown in improvements to the Hospital of Special Care, The Museum of American Art, The Public Library and so many more. Rest in Peace Joe.

“ Sincerest condolences to your entire family; Joe was always helpful to me during his time in the State Senate, guiding me through those tough budget times so that I could explain things to the television audience. But the best part was being near and observing the interplay between Joe and John Larson. Things got done and there were plenty of laughs!
