“ What i most remember about aunt Marion is her coming over to our house and trying to teach me how to knit. Going to her house and watching her sew and helping me sew. Mona ThuresonSmith

“ Parakeets and strawberries are part of my fond memories of Aunt Marion. Skipper and Marion chatting in the kitchen of the home in Kensington while the strawberry plants grew and waited in the backyard. Always welcoming and offering a smile and an encouraging word, Marion most reminded me of Grandma Maude of any of the McKean women, something that has anchored her in my memory all these years.
