“ I started with American Hardware in 1968. Met Velma around 1972 or so when she was working in central files with Bea and Jean. We had a lot of laughs over the years in order entry with Steve, Sophie, Joanie and Maryann. She also worked from the "infamous" Clarence Westman! It was a different time, a different type of life and a lot of great memories for all of us. You have gone to a better place, and look down on us in all our struggles, as your's are over. Rest in peace, Velma, and watch over us all. Forever your friend, Jim Cashman.
