“ Dear Toby, Rachael and Cori,

I am a high school friend of Wendy's who had reconnected with her last year. I was planning to go to our 40th reunion with her in October. We spent a lot of time together during high school, doing those things that young women did-double dating, getting our hair done together for a prom, walking to school as we lived close by and talking about everything under the sun. Wendy's smile lit up every room she ever entered and I cannot believe that she is gone.

She wrote to me about her wonderful husband and children and how full her life was of good things. She was thrilled about her jewelry sales and I was so hoping to see some when I saw her in the fall, and to meet all of you.

Please know that my thoughts are with you during this time of great sorrow. Wendy's life touched so many people and I am so glad that it touched mine.

“ Dear Toby, Rachael and Cori:
Wendy and I were best friends in High School. We had dreams of being on Broadway and we danced our way down Park Avenue twice a week during our senior year. We never made it to Broadway but we both accomplished a great deal in our lives which included a wonderful family. Although I have never met you Rachael and Cori, I feel like I know you. Your Mom talked about you often and was so very proud of each of you. She also talked about you Toby and what a wonderful father and husband you are. I am sorry that we were not able to get together last year in Oysterville like we had planned but I am glad that Wendy and I had reconnected in the last year and a half and I wouldn't trade one of our telephone conversations for a million dollars. I will miss Wendy greatly and I will regret the loss of years between us but I will cherish forever the time we spent talking on the phone and sharing e-mails. We have lost one of those special people that touched the lives of so many.
All my thoughts and prayers to all of you.
With Much Love, Beth-Ann Flood

“ I was fortunate to have the opportunity to work with Wendy at Hospital for Special Care. She was extraordinarily dedicated, not only to her work with us, but to the people whose lives she touched each day. During the past five years, many patients and family members have told me how helpful she was to them. They felt comfortable talking with her, they appreciated her interest and desire to help, and they were confident that she would always follow-up. I think that they sensed Wendy’s compassion right from the first phone calls to our office, and were comforted knowing that they found someone who cared more than most.

There are so many examples of what I will miss about Wendy, I just want to mention a few. I always enjoyed sharing some news of my family life with her at the beginning or end of the day. She was such a good listener – long ago I stopped being surprised when Wendy would ask a thoughtful question about something that we discussed days or weeks earlier. I’ll also miss hearing about her life. Every once in a while, I would learn a little bit more about where she had lived, where she had traveled, or what types of work she had done in the past. Among other topics, she talked with experience and knowledge about politics, books, jewelry, and art. Most of all, she talked about you, her family. In the affectionate way that she spoke of you, it was always clear that you were the center, and the love of her life.

I’ll remember Wendy as a person whose work reflected an unwavering compassion for others, whose conversation reflected broad interests and experiences, and whose family brought her pride and joy.

“ I will miss Wendy greatly. I met Wendy 3 years ago at the Hospital for Special Care as I was temping. I knew from the first day I met her that she was a special person. She was always there to listen and share her life experiences with me. I will miss our great lunches that we had together. The jewelry that she would make me always had such meaning to it. She would tell me about each stone and how carefully she picked them for situations in my life. And most of all I will miss her spirit and the hugs she would give me each time we saw each other. My sincere thoughts and prayers are with Wendy's family at this difficult time.
